OUR HISTORY

Our ice fishing roots run deep. When we started making ice fishing gear, Dwight D. Eisenhower was President, the base price of a Corvette was $3872, gas was $.31 per gallon, and the U.S. was still nine years away from landing on the moon. Times have changed, but our commitment to making top quality Ice Fishing Gear has not.

To say we live for ice fishing is an understatement. As a company we are constantly watching the fall weather and anticipating the arrival of the first wave of cold temperatures. Once the lakes freeze over and the first brave souls venture on the ice, we are right there with them until the spring thaw.

But for us, our season never ends. We spend countless hours designing, testing, and tirelessly building the best ice fishing products year after year. It's what we've been doing for almost 60 years. An employee mantra of "we are never satisfied" echoes through our organization while teams continuously challenge each other with how far we can push the limits. We want to personally thank you from each and every employee at Ardisam for putting your trust in our products and in us.

COMMITMENT TO QUALITY

We create a wide-range of great products, but for years we've primarily specialized in two areas—power augers and ice shelters. We've become experts in both of these categories, with a driving focus to manufacture high-quality products that our customers can rely on.

We've been designing and building ice augers for nearly 60 years. In that time, our dedication to unbeatable performance while standing behind the augers we produce has led us to become the clear leaders in the industry. Whether customers are interested in gas, propane or electric, we have the right auger for them.

When it comes to ice shelters, Eskimo is a trend-setter. Our pop-up and sled shelters are not just innovative, they're made for real world fishing situations, while built for many years of reliable use.

DEDICATION TO ICE FISHING APPAREL

In 2019 we launched an Eskimo line of ice fishing apparel for the first time, covering all the outerwear bases, with uniquely Eskimo float suits, hats, and gloves. We've made a commitment to bring our hard goods mentality of premium quality at an affordable price to the world of ice fishing apparel.

We believe in making purpose-driven apparel that provides the most comfortable fit and convenient function for the ice fishing application, and we continue to expand our apparel offerings with new features, and unique pieces not yet seen on the market. We've hired dedicated full-time apparel technical designers to concept, design, source, and test, leading to a very hands-on approach to building purpose-driven icewear from the ground up.

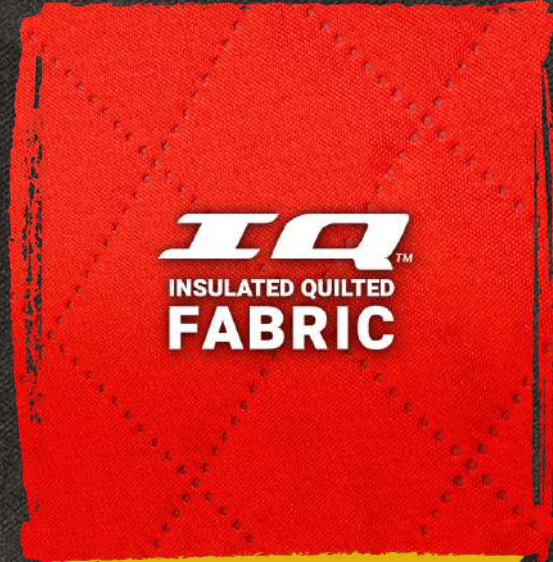

3 FABRIC STYLES

• ACROSS ALL ESKIMO SHELTERS •

IceTight™ is a tightly-woven, high thread count material, offering remarkable wind and watertight performance. IceTight has been proven rugged and durable through many years of use on Eskimo shelters.

IQ™ is the traditional Eskimo insulated quilted fabric, featuring a high thread count and a tight weave. This IQ material traps and retains more warmth than standard uninsulated fabric, and reduces condensation.

StormShield™ is the Eskimo high-end insulated fabric—the latest offering on our premium shelters. With 80 grams of high-loft insulation layered between exterior and interior fabric layers, StormShield provides a robust barrier from the elements, retaining maximum warmth.
